1. The various references deal with the same problem, that of extraordinary expenses incurred in a return move to the United States. Reference (c) is the legal opinion on the specific cases presented for reimbursement and reference (d) is the comment on the fundamental issue.

2. Please note that under existing law and regulations relief cannot be afforded for the particular cases presented but, the problem being one common to other agencies as well, the Department of State is proposing legislation to meet the issue.

3. For the reasons set forth in references (c) and (d), the request for reimbursement for extraordinary expenses incurred by [REDACTED] is disapproved.
